ANNUAL REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

HOME IS WHERE THE ART IS

Dear Friends,

The Straz Center for the Performing Arts is focused on leading as a community-centric service arts organization that embeds outreach and education in everything we do. We also recognize the Straz Center's role as a catalyst for economic development and regional growth. I'm proud to report that we tracked a positive trajectory across programs in the 2022-2023 season.

Straz educational efforts include 54,000 students involved in our arts education programs during the 2022-23 season that was bolstered in the 2023-24 season by a new federal grant to expand our field trip program. Due to that, an additional 27,000 students from Title I schools are enjoying quality, age-appropriate professional produced presentations which will be reflected in next year's annual report.

I am particularly proud of our outreach to military personnel and veterans and their families. Along with Straz programs that support veterans, thanks in large part to community engagement specialist Fred Johnson, the Straz is a leader in arts and healing and in prescriptive arts.

The Straz Center's Broadway season opened with Six, which gave voice to the spouses of Henry VIII. Film and television star Richard Thomas portrayed Atticus Finch in Aaron Sorkin's Broadway production of To Kill a Mockingbird. The Straz team was proud to have staged The Choir of Man – a production that could only be seen on London's West End and at the Straz Center in Tampa.

The Straz Center employs more than 600 people working across a number of departments and disciplines annually. That includes technicians and managers working in film and television. In February 2023, Jim Gaffigan, one the most successful contemporary comedians working today, filmed his latest Amazon Prime Video special, Dark Pale, in our Morsani Hall.

Those were a small fraction of the 1,332 events that took place here last season: Broadway hits, school field trips, concerts, community and educational outreach and more.

As always, none of this would be possible without our donors. Their generous support of the Straz allows us to offer top-notch entertainment and arts experiences that help us better understand our world through the creative process. Donations fund our outreach to all communities, including those that are artistically underserved, as well as our mission-based programs.

In these pages you'll see quantitative and qualitative data demonstrating the Straz Center's accomplishments both as an entertainment destination and as a vital community partner. Our commitment to education and outreach underpin all you'll read in this report.

Thank you for being a part of this important work.

Greg Holland
President and CEO

IT WAS A

YEAR

In a word, the 2022-23 Season was

BIG

There's only one word for it. Scratch that, there are lots of words for it: Humongous, plus-size, king-size, large and in charge, Taylor Swiftian.

"Larger Than Life," suggest the Backstreet Boys.
"Gigantic," counter the Pixies.

There are lots of words for BIG, but BIG is what they all come down to. Or get up to.

BIG is the word that keeps coming to mind when we here at the Straz think about this past season. BIG Broadway hits. BIG crowds coming to see them. BIG times had by all.

Is it ironic that BIG is only three letters long? Should we have posed that question to the cast of Jagged Little Pill last May? Next question ...

Like BIG, six is not a BIG word. It's not even a very BIG number. Six, however, was huge.

Six is the musical in which Henry VIII's half-dozen spouses tell their sides of the story, away from the shadow of the BIG Ol' Boy.

Audiences took to Six in a BIG way. Attendance for its week of shows in Morsani Hall was 19,562.

In fact, it was The Straz's highest-grossing one-week engagement — until Beetlejuice topped it in October.

Last season's BIGness wasn't confined to Six. We had

BIG names on our stages, including comedian-TV host Craig Ferguson, and humorist-NPR favorite David Sedaris. We had veteran TV and film actor Richard Thomas (The Waltons) portraying Atticus Finch in To Kill a Mockingbird, adapted for the stage by Aaron Sorkin (The West Wing, The Social Network) from Harper Lee's timeless novel.

Speaking of BIG, Jim Gaffigan, one of comedy's biggest names, filmed his Amazon Prime special, Dark Pale, in Morsani Hall. The seemingly seamless set was actually culled from three separate performances through the magic of editing and Gaffigan hitting his marks.

Six and Beetlejuice got our Broadway series off to a fantastic start, and the rest of the schedule was sterling as well. Two shows in particular saluted music legends with compelling stories and knockout performances.

Ain't Too Proud: The Life and Times of the Temptations told the BIG winding story of one of the Motown stable's most successful acts, one that had hits and interpersonal drama in roughly equal proportion. Tina Turner was one of the biggest pop music acts of the 1980s, 30 years after she began singing professionally and 10 years after she left musical mentor/abusive husband Ike Turner. Tina: The Tina Turner Musical told Turner's story and recreated some of her most frenetic, most electrifying performances. The Straz never does things nice and easy. We do things nice and BIG.

The BIGness wasn't all fun and games, though. We had our share of Misery, Madness and dodgy meat pies. Those savory pastries figure prominently in Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street, Stephen Sondheim's magnificently malicious horror-comedy. Opera Tampa's production shifted confidently between dark-humor and just plain dark.

Jobsite Theater had a BIG year as well, racking up nominations and awards for Dracula and Alice and especially Misery. Wedded creative types David Jenkins (Jobsite co-founder) and Summer Bohnenkamp (Straz chief marketing and programming officer) mined the familiar story for humor while establishing the creeping tension that builds to near-unbearable, edge-of-your-seat intensity.

Misery was a hit with critics and at the box office. So was the Straz-produced Shear Madness, the hilarious yin to Misery's brutal yang. Audiences flocked to the interactive work, looking for clues and interrogating characters. BIG fun, no?

Of course, with a season that monumental, it's hardly a surprise that some BIG old friends dropped by, those being Hamilton and Wicked.

Thanks for allowing us to boast a bit. Now, it's back to the task of making this season BIGGER than the last, and the 2024-2025 season BIGGER than this one. Tough job, but somebody's got to do it.

The image shows the exterior of the Straz Center for the Performing Arts at night. The building's facade is made of corrugated metal. A large, illuminated sign reads "STRAZ CENTER" in large, white, 3D block letters with orange outlines. Below this, a dark grey horizontal band contains the words "FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS" in white, sans-serif capital letters. To the right of the main sign, three blue, 3D star-shaped ornaments are mounted on the wall. The building is lit with blue and orange lights. In the background, several tall skyscrapers of a city skyline are visible against a dark blue night sky. One building has "PNC" visible on its upper floors.

Her skin is a pale, icy blue. She holds a wooden broom with both hands, which are covered in white gloves. She is standing in a cornfield, with the silhouettes of corn stalks visible against a bright, hazy yellow sky. The overall tone is dramatic and iconic.

PERFORMANCES

INSTRUCTION HOURS

A group of diverse young children, mostly of elementary school age, are shown in a classroom setting. Many of the children have their hands raised, suggesting they are participating in a lesson or activity. The children are wearing casual clothing like t-shirts and sweatshirts. The background is slightly blurred, focusing attention on the children in the foreground.

The Straz Center is devoted to the future of the arts. It's that dedication that brought about the Patel Conservatory, where young performers learn their craft. That sentiment drives our outreach programs that bring the arts to schools and underserved communities. In 2022-2023, we totaled 162,783 hours of instruction in the performing arts. It's our investment in keeping the arts thriving and growing in the Tampa Bay area.

THANK YOU DONORS

Rest assured that when we celebrate a season as successful as 2022-2023 at the Straz, we're not just patting each other on the back, we're also celebrating the true stars behind a great season – our donors.

You've been with us through the uncertainty of the pandemic as well as the passing of the CEO torch from longtime leader Judy Lisi to Greg Holland. Your generosity helps us bring the best of Broadway to Tampa and enables us to take the arts and arts education into underserved communities. It keeps the Patel Conservatory singing, playing, acting, tapping and pirouetting. Your donations not only make the Straz stronger; they also allow us to bolster the community with programs celebrating Tampa's heritage and providing services and creative outlets for our military veterans.

You are vital to keeping us vital, so give yourself a pat on the back.

ENDOWMENT GIFTS

The Straz Center's Endowment Fund provides stability in uncertain times and helps maintain high standards of excellence and creativity. The Straz Center is especially grateful to the following donors whose endowment gifts of $10,000 or more ensure that many more will enjoy the Straz Center and the performing arts in the years ahead.
